

TRAVEL WITH KIDS MADE EASY!

Well-travelled mums Melissa Grah-McIntosh and Rebecca Collins have done the long-haul while pregnant, gone to Greece with a newborn and carted kids around all kinds of places. Their website is a godsend for parents with itchy feet – or even those just thinking about a weekend away. With helpful articles including tips on how to change a nappy in a pram, games and activities for planes and cars, and packing checklists for kids, the site also has travel information for a huge range of destinations. Visit www.mytravelangel.com.

YOUNGSTERS GO FREE

Don't miss the opportunity to take the kids to Sydney Aquarium, Wildlife World, Sydney Tower, Olympic Park and heaps more – for free. The Sydney For Kids card includes accommodation partners, and kids dine free at Jordan's Seafood Restaurant, Darling Harbour, when accompanied by full paying adults. The card costs nothing and is valid until August, visit www.seesydney.com.

LUXURY WITH LITTLIES

Four children and five star don't generally go together when it comes to accommodation, which is why two mums with a penchant for luxury teamed up to create Beachmour 1.

The three-bedroom beach house at idyllic Narooma on the south coast of New South Wales features luxe trimmings such as fluffy Italian towels, Egyptian cotton linen and gorgeous bathroom products – there's even a pillow menu and concierge service. Beachmour 1 sleeps four adults and four children, and pets are welcome. Rates start at $2,750 per week. Visit www.beachmour.com or phone 0433 111 790 for more information.
